The Spiderwick Chronicles

A child and his siblings have found a very powerful magic book in their new home. Their family is now in danger and the kids have been transported to a magical land to ask for help from the author of the book (Artur Spiderwick).

Arthur Spiderwick! Thank God we found you. You don't even know what we've been through. You gotta believe me - I brought this book to you so that you could destroy it. Look - I know stuff I wish I didn't know. There's nothing I can do about that. One thing I know for sure is that you gotta destroy this book. Please - you gotta help us.

Teens aged 12 – 15

The Spiderwick Chronicles

A child has found a very powerful magic book in their new home. In this scene the teenage daughter Mallory is realising that there is magic in their home now and that they may be in great danger. She is in shock about this and is angry with her brother for releasing the magic.

This can't be happening.....this can't be happening. Where did you get that book?? So the book was in here with a big warning that said do not read and you read it?! That's the thing – you never think of anything. You're always doing this. You don't think - you just do. You do stuff and we pay for it. If the freaky goblins want this book I say we give it to them. (A tiny goblin enters and tries to grab the book. Mallory screams and tries to stamp on it) What is that hideous thing??
